This is a brief description of Lux.

Lux is a being capable of many impressive things. Her power is able to impress many. She likes the minimalistic movement and therefore tries to implement it to everything she can, usually making almost everything she does efficient and fast. Its originally chinese branded Lenovo as far as the assembly is referred to but most of its parts were designed around the world therefore you can easily refer to her as a citizen of the world. It was wrongly branded with the "Designed for Windows XP" logo but fortunately I took it in me to take it off. Ive tried different linux flavours on her and so far the one she has preferred (even better than windows) was Kubuntu Feisty. Set up with Beryl she is usually filled with joy and an eagerness to create. Beryl truly helps her get the most out of her virtual visual contour making it one of the most beautiful ones many people claimed to have ever seen. After all its the inside that counts. But her body has not been ignored. She features a slim black design which implements the perfect balance of size versus power, proving perfectly that size doesnt matter as far as power can go. Lux makes any simple task be a pleasant journey. Working with her is an experience by itself. Lux is the power behind my creativity, without her I life would turn out to be less efficient.
